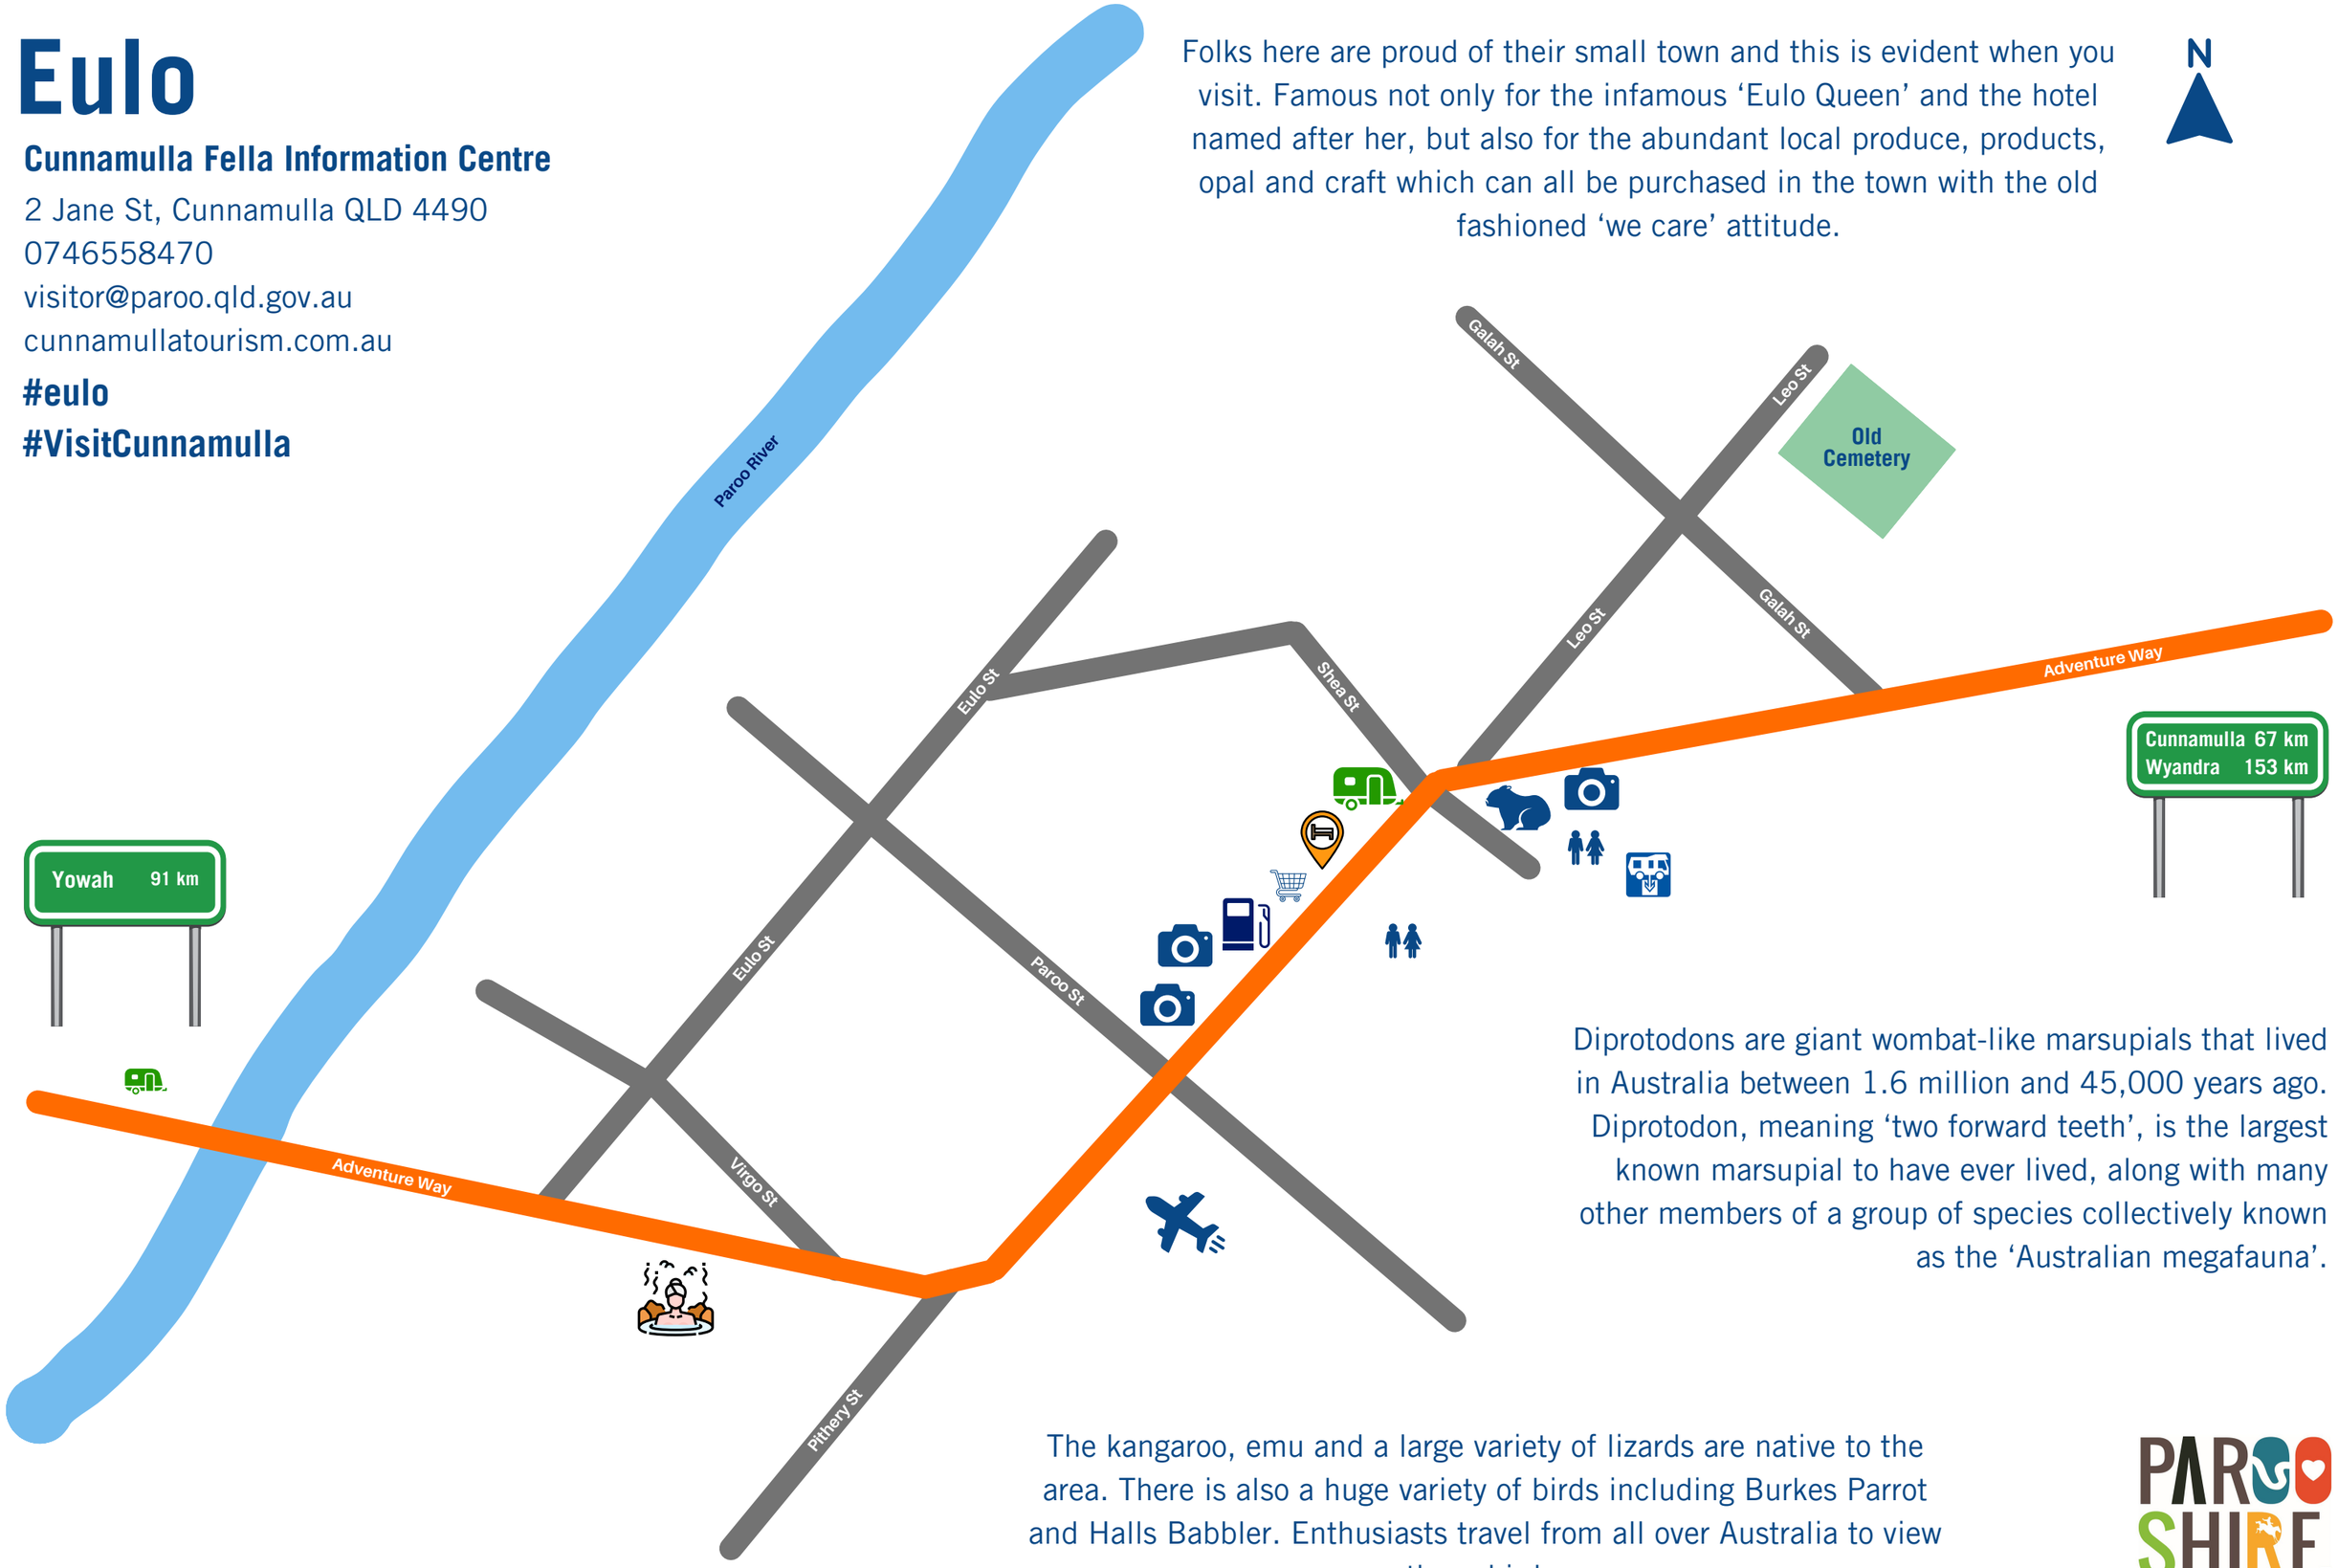
Folks here are proud of their small town and this is evident when you visit. Famous not only for the infamous ‘Eulo Queen’ and the hotel named after her, but also for the abundant local produce, products, opal and craft which can all be purchased in the town with the old fashioned ‘we care’ attitude.



Diprotodons are giant wombat-like marsupials that lived in Australia between 1.6 million and 45,000 years ago. Diprotodon, meaning ‘two forward teeth’, is the largest known marsupial to have ever lived, along with many other members of a group of species collectively known as the ‘Australian megafauna’.

The kangaroo, emu and a large variety of lizards are native to the area. There is also a huge variety of birds including Burkes Parrot and Halls Babbler. Enthusiasts travel from all over Australia to view these birds.
